WELL-KNOWN STATESMAN COMING SOON

Count Albert Apponyi to Speak at R. V. C.

MAGYAR LEADER

Will Speak on Conditions in Near East

Count Albert Apponyi, speaker of the Hungarian House of Representatives and distinguished European statesman, is to speak in Convocation Hall at the Royal Victoria College on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 8.30 o'clock. His subject, which he is certainly well qualified to handle, is "The present situation in the Near East." Admission to this lecture will be by tickets, which may be procured by students and members of the staff from Col. Bovey, secretary to the Principal. The tickets will be ready at least by Thursday.

The Count is now in Toronto where he is being entertained and delivering lectures. From there he will go to Ottawa and from Ottawa he will come to this city, probably arriving here Tuesday morning. He is being accompanied by his daughter, Countess Marika Apponyi.

Count Albert George Apponyi is now a pretty old man, having been born in 1846. For the greater part of his life he has lived in the midst of affairs in the Near East and Central Europe. His great-great-uncle, Antoine-Rudolph Apponyi, before him was one of the leading statesmen of the Continent at the beginning and during the middle of the last century. And the present Apponyi has followed in his footsteps. Even today he is recognized as the leader of the Legitimist Party in Hungary, which aims at restoring the Hapsburgs to the throne of that country. When Hungary set up a republic, which happened at almost the same time as the introduction of the republic form of government in Germany, he was the principal signer of a proclamation urging the restoration to the throne of the young Archduke Otto, with his mother Zita as Regent. Prince Otto was the son of the late Emperor Charles, and is now in exile with his mother. However, when there was danger of an actual popular rebellion in favour of the Imperialists, Count Apponyi used his influence with Queen Zita to have any action postponed, which might result in bloodshed.

Hungary has had a long and interesting history, and the least interesting things have not happened in the last few years. It is to be noted that the Apponyi family has been prominent in Hungarian affairs since the fourteenth century. Of special interest to Canadians are the following facts. The first and only president of Hungary, the wealthiest landowner of the country, has been accused of being in league with the Bolsheviks. His lands and castles have been

MAY PLAY MATCH WITH S.S. CANADA

Soccer Team To Play If Board Consents

This season, prospects have been very bright for the soccer club. Last week their initial practice was attended by twenty-three likely aspirants; and last night they had a similar number in attendance.

The manager would like to make it known to the players that on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, they will practice on the small campus, while on Tuesdays and Thursdays they will use the larger one.

If sufficient funds can be raised, the club, this year, intends to enter inter-collegiate circles and play matches with the other colleges. At present they have a game with the team of the S.S. Canada in view, which with the permission of the athletic board will be played the last of the week.

Be Punctual.

It is a well-known fact that if one who is holding a position is habitually late to his work, his services are very likely to be dispensed with. And yet how many of us there are who are late to classes day after day! It is not only very annoying to the instructor and distracting to the rest of the class, but those of us who do it are forming a habit of tardiness that will greatly hinder our future success. Let's get the habit of punctuality in all things! It's worth the extra 5 minutes sleep!

ARTS FROSH, PAINTED, GO FOR STROLL

Nearly One Hundred Enjoy Walk Around Town

NO RESISTANCE

Axe Grease and False Beards Applied to All.

Nearly one hundred verdant members of the Faculty of Arts accepted the rather informal invitation of their sophomore superiors to join in a little three hour walk around the Stadium and the principal thoroughfares of Montreal yesterday afternoon. Nearly one hundred freshmen with physiognomies so bedecked and bedizened as to make the mural decorations in the Vatican look sick, told Montreal's peaceful pedestrian population that the Faculty of Arts had a baby class that displayed an exceeding fondness for soothing syrup. All heedless boys before the great procession commenced, they emerged each with a beard mysteriously grown during the proceedings. The superfluous hirsute growth however, turned out to be more than a necessary though inexpensive commodity applied to the youngsters' chins by the means of some Grade "A" axle grease.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon the peaceful quiet which usually pervades the University's oldest structure, was suddenly turned into the wildest of Bedlam. Flashing their eyes and gritting their teeth, about blood-thirsty Arts sophomores emerged from the old pile. Several were heard to regret that they had omitted to supply themselves with brass knuckles, while one member of the class was loudly calling for the barber of Seville. The barber soon turned up, this position having been vested in a person of no less importance than Shorty Hellig, Comm. '26, a graduate of the Molar Barber College of St. Lawrence Boulevard.

"Let's Go," rose as from one throat, and with a mad rush all made for the Chemistry and Mining Building, where a portion of the victims was imbibing knowledge. A second section made for the museum erected through the kindness of the late Peter Redpath. At five minutes to three the real business began. The hour bell rang and the freshmen attempted to make an exit. Their attempts, however, were futile. Cordons were thrown around all possible means of egress, and all those attempting to make themselves scarce were hastily brought to order, and urged to enter the already growing line which formed in front of the Chemistry Building. Several "Theologians" were brought to at the Museum after an interesting lecture on the zoology of the intertardigrades of hmfw hrd mhas the invertebrates, and when all were together, the official counter numbered them thirty.

The stage was then shifted to the

CAN OXFORD JUSTIFY WORK OF LEAGUE?

Oxford-McGill Debate Tomorrow at R. V. C.

IMPORTANT THEME

Keen Interest Aroused by Tomorrow's Debate on World Problem

To-morrow night at 8:15 the Auditorium of the Royal Victoria College should be the scene of as fine a battle of wits as is likely to be witnessed for some time. The Oxford debaters will support the contention that the League of Nations is worth the full support of all the Nations of the world. McGill will oppose the resolution. The question of the position that the league should take in the solution of World problems, now and in the future must be of great interest to all those who are interested in politics. The debate gains even greater interest in view of the part taken by the league in the recent Italian crises. Here is a chance to hear both sides of the question put with the greatest possible force and skill—a chance that should not be missed. McGill will be most ably represented by C. H. Penrose, Arts '25, Forsey Arts '25 and Batshaw Law '29 whilst the visiting team will be composed of A. Gordon Bagnall (New College), G. Scarfe (St. Johns College) and Gerald Gardiner (Magdalen). The Oxford debaters have been on a tour of the American and Canadian Universities with somewhat varied fortune. They bested Harvard by a large majority, but were beaten most decisively by Bates University, a small university which specializes very keenly in debating and great deal of time in preparing their line of argument. At Dartmouth the debate was decided a draw. Tomorrow the result of the debate will be decided by Judges and not by the English system of counting the votes and those attending the debate. The Judges to-morrow will be S. M. MacDonald, Canon Shafford and C. J. Doherty, K. C. who will be chief judge.

A few brief remarks about each of the Oxford team may add further interest to the debate. A. Gordon Bagnall is an ex-president of the Oxford university, which differs from our own Union in that it is primarily a debating Society in whose debates politicians and other prominent public men have often asked to take part. Gordon Bagnall moves extensively in political circles and is known as a brilliant and convincing speaker.

G. H. O. Scarfe of St. Johns College, narrowly missed the presidency of the Union at the last elections. He is one of the best known speakers at the Oxford Union and his name on the paper always attracts a crowd. He is also a poet and has recently won the Newdigate prize, given for verse at Oxford with a poem on London. He is a vivid speaker who nevertheless can back up his oratory with convincing floods of statistics.

STAFF CLUB-HOUSE READY SHORTLY

Evacuation of Residence for Faculty Club Begun

A three-storey house on University (No. 822, at the head of Prince Arthur Street) has been secured for the use of the McGill staff. Evacuation of the building by its inhabitants began yesterday, so that the residence will soon be created into a fine club-house for the use of those now on the teaching staff of the University. The new club styles itself the "Faculty Club," and it is to have a meeting this afternoon at five o'clock, for the purpose of furthering organization plans and the appointment of committees. As two hundred members of the staff have stated their sympathy with the idea, it is expected that a large meeting will take place.

It had long been felt that a club-house for the staff was a much needed thing, but not until almost a year ago was anything definite undertaken for the promotion of plans for such a club. The meeting was well attended, other members of the staff was first called in order to discover where there was much sentiment for a faculty club. The meeting was well attended, was enthusiastic, and declared itself heartily in support of the idea. Prominent among those who spoke at that meeting were Sir Andrew MacPhail, and Dr. Stephen Leacock.

MONTREAL, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1923.

THE OXFORD-MCGILL DEBATE

For many years debating has been in existence at McGill. Personally we do not know the date of its first appearance but we deem it perfectly safe to assume that it nearly coincides with the day when this university came into being. For when students gather together does it not follow naturally that there will be at least some argumentation, either formal or informal? Of course it does, for students generally manage to disagree on this subject or on that and it certainly would be an unnatural and horrible state of affairs if we ever truly disagreed on all subjects at the same time.

And so it is that down through the nineteenth century and through this first part of the twentieth century McGill audiences have listened to debates, between the representatives of classes, clubs, faculties and universities. The memory of the greatest have lived in the minds of those who heard them while others have been forgotten even with the passing of a few paltry hours.

But tomorrow night will witness an event altogether unique in the history of our debating, for McGill men will be privileged on this occasion to cross mental swords with representatives of one of the world's most famous seats of learning, Oxford University. Great men without number have received their higher education at this renowned institution and among them have been many famed speakers, debaters and orators. Our visitors from across the water have many traditions to uphold but the weighty burden has not been placed on slim shoulders. The Oxford men have already met some of the finest debaters that American Universities can produce and in the majority of cases have obtained decisive victories. Even the chosen of Harvard could not withstand the wordy onslaught and the audience returned a verdict, which awarded the honours to the Englishmen.

To-morrow night, then, those who are fortunate enough to obtain admission to the R.V.C. hall, will witness a memorable battle of tongues and brains. G. O. Scaife, G. A. Gardiner and A. Gordon Bagnell have all established fine reputations in the wide world of international debating but the McGill men, Penrose, Forsey and Batschaw, even though they have not had the wonderful experience of their opponents, should be able to provide a powerful opposition to the fierce attack that is sure to come.

This debate is of the greatest importance and is worthy of the whole-hearted support of McGill's undergraduate body. And those who attend will be ranked among the privileged, for the evening will create memories, which will not fade away with the passing of a day, but which will linger for ever, among the recollections of the outstanding events of our college days.

CONDENSED COMMENT

Two Intercollegiate events of the greatest importance—the track meet and the tennis tournament—will be past history by the end of the week. McGill's chances, however, are even brighter now than they were a few days ago. In the track world, the inter-faculty meet showed that the Red and White athletics must be taken very seriously by the other universities. Two records were broken and good times were made. We have held the championship title ever since 1914. Will McGill hold it for yet another year? We think so.

In the tennis realm, also, the prospects are only the best. Some of last year's team are being forced to the limit to hold their positions and Jack Wright and Dave Morrice, already chosen are a mighty pair. There are six teams entered this year, the newcomers being the University of Montreal and Western University, but the Red and White racket men should again reign supreme. McGill has held the tennis title ever since the termination of the war and unless a serious upset occurs we shall hold it for another season at least.

E. T. CLUB TO HOLD MEETING TO-DAY

Every E. T. Student Specially Invited to Come.

"Everybody Turnout" to the meeting this afternoon, is the new "Slogan" of the Eastern Townships Club.

The initial meeting of the club will take place this afternoon in the music room of the Union at 5 p.m.

It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand as the club are looking forward to the biggest year in history. Plans will be discussed for the years activities and from all appearances a very attractive programme will be outlined.

It is hoped that all the E. T. men here will make it a point to be at this meeting, there are a great many newcomers to the college from the townships this year and they should not fall to take advantage of this opportunity of becoming acquainted with the men from their own home districts.

24: "We have a cuckoo clock in our room."

"Yes, ours doesn't work very well either."

MEETING OF THE SCIENCE UNDERGRADS

Dr. Adams Elected Honorary President.

GOOD TURNOUT

Annual Dinner to be Held in First Week of December

The first meeting of the Science Undergraduate Society was held yesterday at five o'clock in room 333 of the Engineering Building. For a first meeting the attendance was decidedly good. The president of the Society, W. Mitchell, opened the meeting and called upon the secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting, after which the business of the meeting was brought up. Dr. Adams was re-elected honorary president of the Society.

As there were many different opinions about the use of the surplus funds, the matter was left in the hands of the executive. The manager of the Science football team requested all men who had ever played rugby to turn out on Tuesday the sixteenth at four o'clock. The executive of the Undergraduate Society then spoke of the practice of dispelling the magazines in the reading room and expressed his hope that this tendency might be checked.

Following this a motion was made that the annual dinner be held during the first week of December. It was thought that if the dinner were held at this season the gaiety might be more spontaneous and the affair have a less damoclean air than it usually has when held in March. After some discussion this motion was carried. The president briefly outlined the aims of the Society which are:

1. To hold an annual dinner and procure speakers.
2. To provide magazines for reading room.
3. To supervise undergraduate activities.

The officers of the Science Undergraduate Society are:

President—W. Mitchell.
Secretary—C. H. McNaughton
Vice-president—A. O. Leslie
Treasurer—E. S. Cope.
Asst. Secretary—Findlay.
Reporter—A. H. McNabb.

OTHER CAMPUSES

Rooting at Mich. State
Michigan.—Twenty-four men reported to the Union last Saturday for practice in tryouts for the cheering squad. This year the squad will be composed of one Varsity cheer leader and six assistants. A new type of uniform for the cheer leaders is under consideration. A Student Council committee is in charge of cheer leading.

Welcome for Freshmen
Minnesota.—Six thousand students took part in the giant mass meeting held at Northrop field Thursday, September 27, welcoming the freshman class. President Lotus D. Coffman spoke to the group and "Bud" Bohnen, last year's cheer leader, led the yell.

Texas
Texas.—Members of the Law School here will be discouraged from participation in all forms of campus activities while they are registered as a student in the Law School. Members of the Longhorn Band may be affected by this ruling and "Shorty" Nowotny, chief yell leader may be compelled to resign from the cheer-leading staff. F. F. Leissner, president of the Student's Association, will likely also be affected by the ruling.

Kansas
The Kansas Council of Social Workers will meet at the University of Kansas, October 19-22. Representatives of 12 state social agencies will present outlines of the services they stand ready to give their respective states.

Depauw
Two of Depauw's important all-campus social affairs were held last week. The all-University Party given by members of the faculty was given at the gymnasium Friday evening, Saturday evening all women of the campus held open house from 6 to 11:15.

The human "W", composed of men students who will be seated opposite the 50-yard line, will be a feature of Wisconsin's rooting at the homecoming game with Minnesota on October 19.

College Opening
Columbia.—Opening exercises marking the one hundred and seventieth academic year of the University were held Saturday 26 at Morningside College. The exercises were held at 10:00 a.m. and at the Medical School. Total registration at Columbia is expected to approach the 30,000 mark this year.

Alumni to Meet
Penn State.—The annual Alumni Homecoming Day will be held October 20, and the alumni association is completing arrangements at this time. A roller skating party, and entertainment of various kinds for the night of October 20 at the Armory.

Intending applicants for a Rhodes Scholarship this year are reminded that the last day for receiving applications is October 20th, 1923. Applications are to be addressed to Mr. Gilbert S. Stairs, Secretary, Rhodes Scholarship Selection Committee for the Province of Quebec.

PROF. WAUGH AT ERSKINE CHURCH

Speaks to Young Men's Club on "Canada's Debt to Middle Ages."

A very interesting lecture was given by Professor W. T. Waugh, of the Department of History, last evening, following the first supper of the Erskine Church Young Men's Club of the Fall and Winter season. The speaker's subject was "Canada's Debt to the Middle Ages," and his treatment of it was most interesting and enlightening. A number of McGill men were among those present, including L. C. Tombs, president of Arts '24 and H. R. C. Avison, president of the S. C. A. Prof. Waugh briefly outlined the institutions which were begun during that mystic, and to many people unintelligible period, called the Middle Ages, and which contribute greatly to modern life. Since they contribute to modern life in general, Canada also receives much benefit. The organization of the Roman Church is one of the strongest factors in local existence, and it was consolidated during this period. Government as is now known, was begun in England in the Middle Ages, and from there has come by various routes almost all modern

UNION CAFETERIA

SCARCITY OF WRESTLERS IN HEAVY CLASS

No Successors to Rumpel and Friedman in Sight.

FIRST PRACTICE

Fundamental Principles and Elementary Work.

To-day McGill holds all the Inter-collegiate Wrestling Championships down to 125 pounds. But unless some heavyweights turn out for mat-work from among the Freshmen, those championships will not be with McGill in another year or so.

To-day Rumpel, Intercollegiate Heavyweight Champion, joins without a rival in his division. But Rumpel graduates this year and who is there to take his place? So far, no one. It is the same with the light heavyweights where Friedman holds the championship of McGill. In another year, Freshmen, too, will leave the University, and as yet, no young 175 pounders have turned out to be developed into the champions of the future.

There is also a scarcity of middleweights—not so serious in this division as in the heavier ones, it is true, but a scarcity nevertheless.

A goodly number of men in the lighter weights have turned out. At the first practice for wrestlers held in the Union hall room at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, a score and a half men were on hand, mostly 115 to 155 pounds. In the absence of Coach Smith, T. H. Howes, president of the club took charge of the squad. After taking names and weights of those present, he explained to them the fundamental principle of wrestling, which is to throw your man off his balance. This sounds easy, but it isn't. The men were then put through some elementary work, such as head-and-neck wrestling, and were given a few exercises to enable them to discover their muscular weaknesses. Real serious work will be begun next Thursday when Coach Smith will be on hand.

Wrestling is taught from the elementary work up. Any Freshman thinking of taking up the sport need have no fear of being expected to be an advanced master of wrestling. Many of the men out yesterday had no previous experience in mat-work. Their inexperience is recognized by the coaches and they are taught the science of the sport from the most elementary beginnings. And McGill produces real wrestlers. Only one instance need be noted to prove this. Last year the light-heavyweight champion of Canada was beaten by the McGill champion in his own weight.

With few exceptions, no wrestlers of championship calibre are developed in one season. It has always been the steady working one year after another that brings results. The men who are starting in now working their way upwards in the science of the game will be the champions of the future. A few years hence, judging by this year's turn-out, McGill should be able to hold her own in the lighter weights. But what about the big men? That is what is worrying those interested in wrestling at the University. A man cannot be shoved forward at the last minute and be expected to win the Heavyweight Intercollegiate Championship.

McGill, in the future is to be at least of all the Intercollegiate Championship wrestlers in the heavier weights as she does to-day, those champions of the future should be starting in now, mastering the art of wrestling.

seized, and he is an exile in Jugoslavia, and plans to emigrate to Canada. The ex-premier of Hungary, an exile in Wales, also plans to emigrate to Canada. Of interest to British subjects in general is the fact that the great English oil concern, the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, has been given exclusive rights for boring and prospecting in Hungary for seventy-five years. Relations between England and Hungary are extremely good, and Lord Curzon has set in motion plans for granting a loan, similar to the international loan made to Austria, to save Hungary from collapse.

MCGILL FENCERS TO RE-ORGANIZE

Physical Education Requirements Filled and Pleasure Derived.

The activities of the Fencing Club have not been a subject of great interest on the campus. Perhaps the only time when the students as a body show any interest in fencing is at the time when an assault-at-arms is staged around McGill. While the men and women of McGill have been following the major sports, a bare handful of students have spent some time in the art and sport of fencing. Fencing is no less a sport than an art. While its qualities as a form of exercise are not excelled by any sport, it is strenuous, but fencers are not subject to the punishment received in boxing or football. It is delicate, for swordsmen are trained to use eye and wrist with deadly precision. It is active, nothing in any field of sport can equal the speed of the lunge, or the dexterity of the parry properly executed, and strange to say these are not hard to learn.

The sport of fencing offers to its adherents what few other athletic activities can offer—mind and muscle co-ordination, speed, poise, grace, agility and a strong right arm, while all that one needs to put into the sport is an hour or two a week for about four or five months.

The students of McGill are advised that the two hours a week fencing constitute their requirements for compulsory physical training, so that instead of attending uninteresting calisthenics in the gymnasium, they can interest themselves in fencing, thus getting more good out of attending a sport they really care for, than going through mechanical exercises at Molson Hall that prove at times irksome if not distasteful.

YALE GOES "GHOST-BALL ONE BETTER; LAMPS LIGHT FIELD"

Elit football players will know what it feels like to work behind the footlights not on the stage but on the gridiron when the electric lights are ready for use which have been placed around the main gridiron of Pratt Field in New Haven. The sporting world has heard of electric-lighted tennis courts and hockey rinks, but it was not until the electric light poles were placed around Yale's gridiron that playing football at night was introduced.

More time was needed for football practice because of the late recitations which prevent work from starting before 4:15 o'clock. Practices were short enough on cloudy days, but when, as Wednesday a cloudy day, cut practice short far too soon because of lack of light, Coach Jones decided some action must be taken, and as a result the lighting is being installed.

By a new ruling which goes into effect at Princeton University for the first time this year juniors and seniors who are not on probation are no longer required to attend classes and lectures and unlimited absences are allowed them, if their studies do not suffer in consequence.

This plan of permitting a student to decide whether he shall attend a class or not has existed in foreign universities for some time but Princeton is the first institution to adopt it. It assumes that a student reaching college age is able to decide for himself when it is necessary to attend or cut a class and the universities denies this privilege only upon a student's failure to pass a course.

FROM EVERLASTING—

When we were the Frosh
Two years, years ago—
We were docile and bashful and good;
We treated the Soph'mores with proper respect,
And we always did just what we should.

But look at them now
How they spurn our advice—
How they storm at their tags and are rude,
In naught are they like us—but, ah! we forget—
Still in Chapel their elbows protrude.

WATER POLO PLAYERS OUT LAST NIGHT

Speed and Distance Swimmers Showing Fine Form

GAME THURSDAY

Vernot Depending On Team's Checking and Passing Ability

A good practice of the swimmers and water polo players was held last night in the Rubenstein tank. Coach Vernot put each man through his paces, then turned his attention to the polo players. If anyone has any doubt as to the ability of the men to run off with the polo championship and individual speed medals they ought to see the splash in the tank after they go roaring by.

Claithorn was not able to be out, but will be in attendance at the rest of the practices according to Coach Vernot. Bourne and Vernot ruled off their distances in good time. Vickerson and Kyle contracted the old disease and loafed along for a slow fifty yards or so. In the usual manner the Coach called attention to the stop-watch. Thereafter the boys showed more pep. Jim Ross rolled along with his usual speed and ability.

The polo practice showed both style and speed. Close checking and clever backhand drives characterized the play and kept the seniors on the go from start to finish. The approach of the first intermediate game on Thursday with M.A.A.A. Reds at the Rubenstein Tank on Thursday night, spurred the polo players to increased activity which considerably brightened the hope of a win.

Coach Vernot wants everyone of the following out for polo practice tonight: Williams, Copeland, Bethel, Forsyth, Moore, Vickerson, Kyle, Phipps, Gravel, Murphy, Winters, Claithorn, Jardine, Nicholson and every other man who can swim and throw a ball. Positions in the game on Thursday night depend largely on practices attended this week.

PROFESSOR FROM HOLLAND TO SPEAK

Dr. Zernike of University of Groningen Will Address Physicists

To all those interested in mathematics, chemistry, or physics, the meeting of the Physical Society at 5 p.m. to-day should be particularly interesting. Dr. Zernike from the Groningen University, Holland will speak. He is well-known among European savants, being an authority on his subject. Dr. Zernike will speak in English and his subject is "Fluctuation." There will also be a conference in Room 2 of the Physics Building at 11 a.m.

GLEE CLUB PRACTICE NOT WELL ATTENDED

At last night's practice of the Glee Club Mr. Harold Eustace Key, the conductor evinced decided dissatisfaction with the results of the recent membership drive. Although many new members have been enrolled most of these have been first basses.

The conductor particularly remarked the weakness in the tenor and second bass sections but added that more voices were needed for all parts. During the hour five or six new members were tried out but until the various parts are filled out in better proportion real work cannot begin.

CAN OXFORD JUSTIFY WORK OF LEAGUE?

Gerald Gardner of Magdalene College has been president of innumerable clubs and Societies including the Oxford University Dramatic Society in whose productions he has played with distinction. He is a speaker of great wit. And as a believer in Mr. Lloyd George's "Centre Party", prevailed on that distinguished statesman to address the Oxford New Reform club. In one direction the Oxford debaters are at a great advantage, Lord Robert Cecil, the sponsor of the Oxford Union to outline his great defence of the League and to justify the existence. The Oxford debaters must surely have caught some of the magic of his enthusiasm.

Too True

Love is like eating mushrooms—you don't know whether it's the real thing until too late.

God made women beautiful and foolish—beautiful that the men might love them; foolish that they might love the men.

Young Girl: "Mamma, are we all descendants of monkeys?"

Mother: "My gracious, no; our folks came from Wales."

THE IMPERIAL

This theatre is sustaining a highly-entertaining. Three acts of vaudeville this week are worthy of carrying the headline on any circuit. Kerr and Englen have something new in music—a violin pedlar who finally gets into a musical argument with his fair prospect. Tom Kerr also has a fiddle with a horn attached to the sounding box by which he can imitate bagpipes to a wonderful degree.

The vaudeville opens with a very good animal act. Sent—the almost human seal performs better than billed. Indeed in the role of a nursemaid the animal would excel many a Montreal nursemaid in performing that duty.

The next act is built up round the old custom—a young man taking his girl out. The mode of entertainment is the automobile and after stopping for unnecessary repairs the driver encounters some thrills before getting on his way again.

"Four Miners," a singing quartette, have a good repertoire of songs and give a well-balanced exhibition of group singing. Two comedians, who draw rounds of applause from the audience by means of sheer ridiculousness are seen in Bryan and Stewart.

The top-notch, depicting Bohemian life is a riot of colour and good dancing and includes three men and three ladies. They express to a fine degree that gypsy abandon which is so hard to carry out behind the footlights. One of the men is the possessor of a good voice which in heard to advantage and takes well.

The feature picture, "The Sporting Earl," is a leaf taken from a country gentleman's life in England. The plot is well connected and runs true to the life itself. There is more than one good horse race scene, and the picture alone is worth the admission price.

Fox News includes scenes of Dr. Lloyd George's Canadian tour, and what is of interest to McGill students, the part showing the McGill football team in action against the Queen's players.

COLLEGE MIXER

(Editor's Note—Hiram, fortified by a few classes in English composition, has consented to write an impressionistic story of his experiences at the college mixer Thursday evening.)

"Hi, there, mix up, boy!" I wasn't feelin' exactly happy when this fellow shouted at me and insisted on getting me mixed up over on the campus. I resisted, but he kept saying I had to be in the Mixer night. I thought all hostilities were settled a week ago, but I saw I had to humour to the fellow so I got ready for the worst. When I got to the Chapel's front porch, as some high and mighty senior called it, I saw that everybody was going to be mixed, team and all. Gee, I was excited—it all looked like a cherryade milk shake—so much red and white, so right away I decided to get busy and be sociable. Just then the whole bunch began to march and the first thing I knew some one had handed me a tissue paper plate and I remembered that it was Thursday night—but, yes, we had no pie. I also remembered that this wasn't to be an "eating contest," so I couldn't eat very much.

I suddenly heard a whistle and some instructions about writing on some cards they gave us and everybody began to write the histories of prominent people they knew, but I couldn't write because everyone seemed to want to get mixed up with me (especially the girls). I sure was disappointed, though, when they read the names of the winners of those books I read about—how you can lose your family 'n' everybody, but these books stay right with you. Gee, I thought they were pretty lucky to win those. We sang some then, but I couldn't join with them 'cause I forgot my O book but I enjoyed the talk about "Paddling your own canoe," or something like that. Then I tried to find that freshman girl that told me to look into her eyes but she strayed away and left me.

Oberlin Review

AT OTHER COLLEGES

The Yale University Press, by its release yesterday of "Columbus," the first of a series of 30 photoplays founded on the Chronicles of America, has put before the public the results of its experiment in recording, in a dramatic way, the history of this country on the screen.

The ordinary methods of producing pictures have been disregarded, and expert historians have worked for two years to make the films absolutely exact as to fact and detail, and yet with all this have blended a beauty of setting that has given to these pictures a universal appeal.

The series of pictures was produced to present the story of America in a clear and concise way, but in such a way that the pictures may be seen and enjoyed by the people whose time is limited. In the first showing of the two pictures of the series which have been completed, critics have highly praised them, and as a result, the Pictures have decided to distribute the whole series of 30 to theatres, with entire assurance of financial success in showing them.

PHILOSOPHERS TO HEAR DR. CALDWELL

Executive for the Year is Published.

The first meeting of the Philosophical Society will be held on Monday Nov. 5th when Dr. Caldwell, who has recently returned from an extensive visit to Europe, will address the Society. Dr. Caldwell will probably speak on present philosophical tendencies among the peoples of the old world, and his address promises to be of considerable interest to all students at McGill.

Dr. Caldwell's absence from the meetings of the Philosophical Society this session was keenly felt, and it is expected that interesting discussions will be more common this year.

Subsequent meetings up to the New Year will take place on Nov. 26th when it is planned to have a joint meeting of the Philosophical and Physiological Societies, at which the relations between these two departments will be discussed, and on Dec. 19th when Dr. Walter will address the Society on "Philosophy and Literature." Executives of other Societies are asked to keep these evenings free, as these three meetings should have a wide appeal.

The Executive members are as follows:

Dr. W. Caldwell—Honorary President.
Otto Kinsberg—President.
W. L. Robertson—Vice-president.
T. S. Taylor—Secretary.
T. G. Hutton—Treasurer.

About four meetings to follow the above are being arranged and will be published in due course.

The echo of the current eclipse, if we may so put it, comes from J. C. B. He (to stock girl)—I suppose you observed the sun's corona yesterday.

She—No! I'm not interested in type-writers.

Mrs. A—How do you write references for your cooks?

Mrs. B—As I would their epitaphs.

SEMI-FINALS IN THE R.V.C. TOURNAMENTS

Miss Stocking Will Play
Miss G. Cameron.

COMPETITION KEEN

Miss Carol Robertson in Line
for the Finals.

Excitement runs high at present in the R. V. C. as the finals of the Tennis Tournament approach. Will a freshette once more win the championship or will one of the previous victors, Miss Robertson or Miss Stocking, carry off the laurels? This question will be answered Wednesday when the finals will be played off in the hollow. For those who met defeat during the first round there is a consolation tournament to be played during the next few days; for the winner of which Miss Cartwright has kindly offered a prize as she has done in previous years.

Yesterday saw several hard-fought games, not to mention battles on the courts behind the R. V. C. Miss Stocking and Miss B. Cameron met in a brilliant match of rallying and it involved many games becoming an endurance test, the final score being 8-5. That of Miss Glen Cameron and Miss Silber was not as brilliant, as it was more evident from the first that the latter was outclassed and soon spent her energy. The game in a score of 8-3 for Miss Cameron.

One of the most spectacular games of the tournament was that between Miss Carol Robertson and Miss A. M. Robertson. Although the former won her two sets, it was all she could do to down her opponent whose skill was in her ambidexterous play during the game so that the balls seemed to be within her reach. However, Miss C. Robertson's playing was more consistent; she will thus play the winner of the game between Miss Stocking and Miss G. Cameron, who play today. The finals will be played off on Wednesday. The exact hour will be announced in tomorrow's "Daily."

Several hundred here, the sophomores expected a stiff fight from the verdants, and they got it. But strong organization prevailed against mob force, and when operations were complete, close on a hundred frosh meekly followed their leaders, all the time proclaiming that "the gang was all there."

At the Arts Building at McGill a yell was lustily rendered and then the procession headed for the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium by way of University Street. Arrived there, the initiates for a few moments assumed the roll of rosters, cheering the "Shagnien" who were working out for their next contest. Then the exterior decorating began. Several Michael Angelo's, as well as a few stray Leonardo's and Vermeer's were discovered, and all were strenuously put to work at their dormant vocation. They had found their "meter" in a few ticks of the clock.

Led by two especially verdant specimens particularly chosen for the position, who had a board on which was inscribed the word "reversed word," the cohort, marched to the building occupied by the Royal Victoria College for women, and surrounding the statue of the late Queen Victoria the Good, rendered the R. V. C. yell just exactly as it should be rendered. Swinging down Victoria Avenue, the throaty band next seized the main artery of Montreal's retail trade, and amazed all bystanders by their particularly freakish actions.

The next objective was Peel street, and it was captured with ease. Quiet then reigned until the Montreal terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway was reached. Entering this excellent specimen of Railway architecture, the freshmen once more reiterated their fondness for soothing syrup to an admiring audience.

Returning up Peel street, the captives formed a perfect circle around the traffic policeman, and after cheering him thrice and assuring all curious on-lookers that McGill was all right, Oh yes you bet! the company disbanded.

The customary supper usually given by the obliging sophs to the newcomers was inadvertently omitted.

RADIO FOLLOWERS MEET ON THURSDAY

Executive to be Elected for Session

A general meeting of the Radio Association will be held in Room 2 of the Macdonald Physics Building on Thursday Nov. 18th at 5 p.m. for the purpose of electing the executive of the association for the coming season.

All undergraduates interested in Radio should attend and particularly those taking electrical courses. Last year most of the meetings were addressed by very capable and interesting lecturers, such as Dr. H. T. Barnes, the Honorary President, and Dr. H. G. Eves. This year promises to be even better if those interested in Radio will give the Association their support. In addition to hearing men prominent in Radio Engineering who happen to be at McGill, it is hoped that visits will be made to the plant in town and to the Macdonald Plant on William St. If a complete receiving set can be obtained this year it is possible that the plans proposed for the reception of Sport and other news in Broadcasting from neighbours, made again this year to Broadcasting last year for concerts in the Union, and the town may be realized. McGill is practically the only university on the North American continent without permanently installed apparatus for such purposes. It should be the aim of the Radio Association this year to put itself in a position where it can save the Student body as a whole as well as cater to those amateurs who have an avocation of this great modern development from the work of Faraday and Maxwell.

"The School Question" to be
Main Subject for Discussion.

The Maccabean Circle will hold their first meeting of the year this Sunday afternoon, October 21, 1923, at the McGill Union. A discussion on "The School Question" by Mr. Louis Fitch and Rabbi Merritt will be the main feature of the program. The subject is one that has evinced notice among the students of the University. The discussion should prove interesting as the speakers are important authorities on this problem. Gerald Fels will render a piano solo.

The Maccabean Circle constitutes the McGill Chapter of the Intercollegiate Memorial Association, Hebrew Culture and literature to the student for his appreciation.

Members are requested to bear in mind the date of the first meeting. Freshmen in the University are invited to join.

MEDICAL PLAYERS SHOW FINE FORM

Out

With Grassick, Rankin, Reardon, Chisholm, Gunroy and other prominent players, the Meds feel confident of going far in the interfaculty football race.

With their initial work-out they discovered unknown talent among their forces, and this with steady practice they hope to develop into a smooth-working twelve.

It is their wish, however, that all in the medical faculty, who have played and can play rugby, would turn out and try to make a place on the team, since increased numbers tend to intensify the interest of the players, and in this way aid the faculty in making their usual creditable standing in the interfaculty games.

COURTESY

Treating a customer like a rich uncle, so that you may extract his coin is not courtesy—that's foresight. Offering a seat to the man who enters your office is not courtesy—that's duty.

Listening to the grumbings, growlings and groanings of a bore without remonstrating is not courtesy—that's forbearance.

Offering your companion a cigar when you light one yourself is not courtesy—you'll be ill-bred if you didn't.

Helping a pretty girl across the street holding her umbrella, carrying her poodle—none of these is courtesy. The first two are courtesy, and the last is politeness.

Courtesy is doing that which nothing under the sun makes you do but human kindness.

Courtesy springs from the heart; if the mind prompts the action, there is a reason, if there is a reason, it is not courtesy, for courtesy has no reason.

Courtesy is good will, and good will is prompted by a heart full of love to be kind.

She tanned her hide,
Did pretty Nan;
Since when she's tried
To hide her tan.

"Oh, how shocking!" cried Eva, as her sweetheart fell on the third rail.

EINSTEIN'S THEORY MAY BE CONFIRMED

Prof. Chant of Varsity Claims
Verification Near.

Evidence has been produced that very strongly confirms the Einstein theory. Professor Chant of the "Varsity" in an exclusive interview, Professor Chant has recently completed his verifications on the theory following upon his trip to Australia with the Canadian Astronomical Expedition. This trip was made to secure a photograph of a total eclipse of the sun.

Einstein, Professor Chant explained, stated that if his famous theory were correct, light coming from a star would have its path bent as it passed the sun; thus, the apparent position of the star would not be its true position.

It is only possible to photograph the stars in the immediate vicinity of the sun during a total eclipse. It was necessary, then, to obtain a photograph of such an eclipse with sufficient exposure to show the stars clearly. This could afterwards be compared with other pictures of the same stars taken when the sun was not among them. These latter pictures were taken in June 1922, by a party from the Lick Observatory in California, on the island of Tahiti. This expedition, which was sent to obtain comparative photographs for their own use, offered to use the camera belonging to our Astro-Physics department if it were sent. This was done and in this way our University obtained some of the plates.

The party which went to Western Australia from Canada succeeded in obtaining the desired photographs of the eclipse. After their return to this country, R. K. Young, a Toronto graduate of 1909, now attached to the Dominion Astro-Physical Observatory at Victoria, B. C., measured them with extreme care. This very tedious and exact labour required for its completion no less than three months. The results, however, were most gratifying. The plates were found to confirm Einstein's prediction as to the light of the stars. Since this prediction was founded upon his theory, its confirmation is considered to be very strong evidence of the correctness of the theory itself.

Soon after the results obtained by the Canadian party were announced, those of the Lick Observatory expedition were made public. These, Professor Chant stated, confirm Einstein in a still more decisive manner.

RUGGER PLAYERS IN FIRST GAME

Seats on Sale at Molson
Hall.

McGill will play the Montreal English Rugby team at the Stadium on Saturday the 20th in the second game of a league series for the McTier Cup. In the first game of the series, played in Ottawa last Saturday, Montreal defeated Ottawa. Montreal has invited the Wanderers of Halifax to meet them here on the 3rd of November. McGill, in turn, have invited the Wanderers to stay over and play them on Monday the 5th. The game on the coming Saturday will, therefore, be hotly contested.

As a result of the daily workouts on the campus the McGill men are getting into good condition. Although the line-up is still uncertain, a fast team is rapidly taking shape. A number of regulars of previous years have been turning out. Amongst the new men are: Beaton and MacOdrum, formerly of Dalhousie University team, and Doug McKinnon who played for Stanford University in the West.

R. V. C. FRESHETTES.

ATTENTION!

That day of judgment has arrived when all penalties for the non-observance of, and all infringements on rules and regulations shall be duly paid.

The powers that be demand that all Freshettes assemble at the outer portal of the R. V. C. gymnasium at precisely forty-five minutes past three on this very day. She accordingly shall be garbed in her gymnasium tunic, her pedal extremities clad in her gymnasium shoes, in her hand she shall carry her walking shoes, a large pocket handkerchief and thirteen coppers. All clothing must be distinctly marked with the owner's name.

Wee betide anyone who would disregard such an order!
